Boston, Mass.,

Dear Max,

In recent years my travelling time has been my thinking time. On the way home I thought of your suggestions. You are right and I appreciate the advice. I'll have to try and be less long-hair.

It was an interesting experience.

And what a commentary on modern society was my trip home!

It took me 20 minutes more to get out of the airport parking lot than the 500-600 mile flight required! I had the flat out tire I have ever seen, the gift of a vandal. The garage was but a fifth of a mile away. To get the service truck that short distance after I phoned actually took more time than the flight!

My additional expenses are as follows:

Mileage, 98 / .08	$7.84
Parking;	3.00
cabs, Boston	6.50
food	5.15
Tips	.75
	23.04

Sincerely,

Harold Weisberg
